Declassified in Part - Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2012/0	04/30 : CIA-RDP83T00296R000100030003-5 _
Central Intelligence
	. 25X1

National Intelligence Daily

Monday 2 March 1981

Top Secret

CO NID 81-049JX 2 March 1981

		Top Secret
,
Contents
Situation Re	eport
El Sal	vador		1
Briefs and (
Briers and	Sommeries	e .
Spain:	Basque Terrorists Call Truce .		4
Poland	: Economic Plan		5
Intern	ational: Grain Reserve Negotiation	ons	6
USSR:	Rail Line to Gasfields		7
Special Ana	lysis
	gua: Sandinistas Under Pressure		8
	, a

Top Secret

2 March 1981

25X1 25X1

Top Secret
SITUATION REPORT
EL SALVADOR
The lull in sustained guerrilla military operations continues, but the insurgents are inflicting heavy damage to the economy and they remain capable of launching an offensive in the coming months.
they remain capable of launching an offenoise in the · 11 - hit and run guerrilla hit-and-run the electrical power system in recent weeks attacks on the electrical power system in recent weeks have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern harr attacks on the electrical power system in recent weeks have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern half of the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year.
have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern harrof the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year.
have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern harr of the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department where they hold several small villages as well as
have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern harrof the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as
have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern harrof the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as some larger, abandoned towns. The Salvadoran military has only 250 permanently garrisoned, combat-ready troops has only 250 permanently fortified insurgent strongholds in
have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern harrof the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as some larger, abandoned towns. The Salvadoran military has only 250 permanently garrisoned, combat-ready troops to counter heavily fortified insurgent strongholds in
have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern harrof the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as some larger, abandoned towns. The Salvadoran military has only 250 permanently garrisoned, combat-ready troops to counter heavily fortified insurgent strongholds in the area. Low troop morale worsened by almost constant contact with the guerrillas is affecting the military's
have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern harrof the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as some larger, abandoned towns. The Salvadoran military has only 250 permanently garrisoned, combat-ready troops has only 250 permanently fortified insurgent strongholds in
have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern harrof the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as some larger, abandoned towns. The Salvadoran military has only 250 permanently garrisoned, combat-ready troops to counter heavily fortified insurgent strongholds in the area. Low troop morale worsened by almost constant contact with the guerrillas is affecting the military's
have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern harrof the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as some larger, abandoned towns. The Salvadoran military has only 250 permanently garrisoned, combat-ready troops to counter heavily fortified insurgent strongholds in the area. Low troop morale worsened by almost constant contact with the guerrillas is affecting the military's
have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern harrof the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as some larger, abandoned towns. The Salvadoran military has only 250 permanently garrisoned, combat-ready troops to counter heavily fortified insurgent strongholds in the area. Low troop morale worsened by almost constant contact with the guerrillas is affecting the military's
have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern harrof the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as some larger, abandoned towns. The Salvadoran military has only 250 permanently garrisoned, combat-ready troops to counter heavily fortified insurgent strongholds in the area. Low troop morale worsened by almost constant contact with the guerrillas is affecting the military's
have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern harrof the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as some larger, abandoned towns. The Salvadoran military has only 250 permanently garrisoned, combat-ready troops to counter heavily fortified insurgent strongholds in the area. Low troop morale worsened by almost constant contact with the guerrillas is affecting the military's
have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern harrof the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as some larger, abandoned towns. The Salvadoran military has only 250 permanently garrisoned, combat-ready troops to counter heavily fortified insurgent strongholds in the area. Low troop morale worsened by almost constant contact with the guerrillas is affecting the military's
have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern harrof the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as some larger, abandoned towns. The Salvadoran military has only 250 permanently garrisoned, combat-ready troops to counter heavily fortified insurgent strongholds in the area. Low troop morale worsened by almost constant contact with the guerrillas is affecting the military's have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern matrof the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as some larger, abandoned towns. The Salvadoran military has only 250 permanently garrisoned, combat-ready troops to counter heavily fortified insurgent strongholds in the area. Low troop morale worsened by almost constant contact with the guerrillas is affecting the military's ability to conduct offensive actions.
have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern harrof the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as some larger, abandoned towns. The Salvadoran military has only 250 permanently garrisoned, combat-ready troops to counter heavily fortified insurgent strongholds in the area. Low troop morale worsened by almost constant contact with the guerrillas is affecting the military's
have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern main of the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as some larger, abandoned towns. The Salvadoran military has only 250 permanently garrisoned, combat-ready troops to counter heavily fortified insurgent strongholds in the area. Low troop morale worsened by almost constant contact with the guerrillas is affecting the military's ability to conduct offensive actions. continued have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern mark of the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as some larger, abandoned towns. The Salvadoran military has only 250 permanently garrisoned, combat-ready troops to counter heavily fortified insurgent strongholds in the area. Low troop morale worsened by almost constant contact with the guerrillas is affecting the military's ability to conduct offensive actions. continued Top Secret have caused a virtual total blackout of the eastern main of the country. Some 65 electrical towers have been destroyed or damaged since the first of the year. The guerrillas remain strong in Chalatenango department, where they hold several small villages as well as some larger, abandoned towns. The Salvadoran military has only 250 permanently garrisoned, combat-ready troops to counter heavily fortified insurgent strongholds in the area. Low troop morale worsened by almost constant contact with the guerrillas is affecting the military's ability to conduct offensive actions. continued

Declassified in Part - Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2012/04/30 : CIA-RDP83T00296R000100030003-5

	Top Secret
	2 ne guerrillas have enough weapons t evel of activity. Guerrilla casual ry offensiveperhaps 400 to 500 fu ave not crippled the estimated 4,00
, s s	2
ilitary's Views on Negotiations 2 ost officers oppose negotiations be eftist opposition leaders. Junior icularly strident about what they p onceived efforts by Christian Democ al accommodation with spokesmen of	- emocratic Front.	. 2
Hardline rightists in the milit	arv are attempting turn the recent arrest of former ajano into a test of the military's arshly with those few officers stil ise with the opposition. In additi	on, that they are oposed to General Torrijos' efforts ions. The officers said the Salvad
lly views T orrijos as an ally of Cu
	2
	•

Top Secret

2 March 1981

25X1

2

Declassified in Part - Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2012/04/30 : CIA-RDP83T00296R000100030003-5

		Top Secret
	SPAIN: Basque Terrorists Call Truce
25X1	The attempted military coup has reminde much they have to lose if democracy founders.
25X1	On Saturday the political-militar Fatherland and Liberty terrorist organ freed three honorary consuls kidnaped declared its willingness to let political with Basque problems. No conditions the truce, but the terrorists warned sider in the event of a military coup devolution of power to the region.	nizationETA-pm last month and ical forces deal were attached to they would recon-
	Clearly implicit in ETA-pm's start that further terrorism at this stage of military intervention. Rightist military control by threats to the unity of is little doubt that a military takeous end of regional autonomy.	could provoke another tary officers are f Spain, and there	25X [,]
	ETA-pm called on ETA-m, the more wing which claims responsibility for a ings last year, to join in laying down terrorist groups quarreled openly lasmurdered a young engineer, and ETA-pm likely to widen that rift.	more than 90 kill- n arms. The two t month when ETA-m	25X ²
	It is highly unlikely that ETA-m the truce, and the radicals may be journal from ETA-pm. For some time now, ETA-pterrorism to supplement political pregrant more autonomy. The radicals, houncompromising in their efforts to accompany their stateprovoking a military their plan to force Basques to fight	ined by the diehards pm has only used ssures on Madrid to owever, have been hieve an independent akeover is part of	25X
	As if to underline their contemperate terrorists critically wounded a hours after ETA-pm's announcement.		25X ⁻
·	Now that Basque autonomy is firm symbolized by the King's visit to the popular sympathy for the terrorists i shock of the attempted coup is likely process, and ETA-pm's truce is a sign recognize their growing isolation. I ETA-m into proving that it can still time when security forces are dangero	region last month, s drying up. The to accelerate the that extremists t may, however, goad strike hard at a	25 X 1
		Top Secret
	4	2 March 1981	25 X 1

	Top Secret	25 X 1
POLAND: Economic Plan
The Kania regime has produced the draft of program intended to stabilize the economy by 1989 released it.		25X
The program will probably receive at tious approval of Western bankers. Since its drafters acknowledgewould reduce the living, it is likely to be opposed by Solthus the regime may implement it only part	e the planas ne standard of lidarity, and	25X
Despite some internal inconsistencies offers a far-reaching program that could improve both economic efficiency and the payments. It recommends organizational attive changesnotably, decentralization. for greater use of taxes, credit policy, ibility in influencing economic activity.	substantially balance of and administra- It also calls and price flex-	25X
The tone of the plan, with its canditate need for economic austerity, and some cific recommendations probably will generopposition. Especially controversial proalready tried and rejectedinclude links productivity, lowering per capita meat coraising retail prices.	e of its spe- rate widespread oposalssome ing wages and	25X
Some of the more provocative aspects are tempered by other recommendations in that retail prices should be raised only approval and with provision for at least pensation for higher food prices.	cluding one with public	25 X
Among the more striking innovations a call for a progressive income tax. The ably will encounter opposition from the kinfluential workers-coal miners, for exalso recommends a ban on new social prograthree years-a suggestion likely to arous lower paid workers.	is proposal prob- better paid, more ample. The plan rams for the next	25X
Some parts of the plan stand a good adopted because they are likely to raise not impinge on, living standards. These to encourage private agriculture, switch capacity from investment goods to consume creasing output of service industries, as supplies for small industries and handicates.	, or at least include measures ing productive er goods, in- nd increasing	25X
5	Top Secret 2 March 1981	25X1

Declassified in Part - Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2012	12/04/30 : CIA-RDP83T00296R000100030003-5
---	---

25X1

	, , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , 	Top Secret
		·
INTERNATIONAL: Grain Reserve N	egotiation	s
The International Wheat Council pave difficulty agreeing on the detail reserve, even if the US backs its esta	ls of an inte	cting tomorrernational g	ow will rain
Countries that import grain third World, insist on setting third prices. They have difficult imports despite relief available rention of 1980 and various countries.	up the rese lty financ: e from the	erve to fo ing foodst Food Aid	restall uff
Exporting countries are under to eschew a reserve agreemed rain prices in the current tight cowever, also would lose the flowed place under grain prices in the could place under grain prices in the countries are under grain prices in the countries are under grain prices in the countries are under grain prices are	ent because ht market. oor that a	it could Exporter reserve s	lower s, ystem
Strong US opposition to a reconcil session probably would result in expreement and would result in expreement, where the constant is a subject to the constant of the constant is a subject to the constant of the constant is a subject to the constant of the constant is a subject to the constant of the constant is a subject to the constant of the cons	preclude re xtension of	eaching a market the curre	new ent
US acceptance of a modified orm a basis for negotiation but isagree about details. Importe 0 million tons while exporters	t other cou ers argue f	intries st for a rese	ill
Wide disagreement also remaining the work of the work of the world be added to or coreover, assistance over and also ated by the World Bank last year	r removed foove the $2	rom the relation a	eserve.

25X1 25X1

Top Secret

25X1

2 March 1981

Declassified in Part - Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2012/04/30: CIA-RDP83T00296R000100030003-5

Secret

25X1

USSR: Rail Line to Gasfields

The rapid progress on a key rail link in northern West Siberia will help relieve transportation bottlenecks affecting development of major gas and oil fields in the area. The rail line, reported in the Soviet press to be in service from Surgut in the heart of the oilfield area to Urengoy near the Arctic Circle, is being extended west to the developing gasfields at Novyy Urengoy. When completed, probably by midyear, the main gas— and oil-producing areas of West Siberia will be linked by rail to the European USSR. Improved transportation is essential in West Siberia if the Soviets are to meet the targets in natural gas and crude oil production set for the next five years.

25X1

Top Secret

2 March 1981

Declassified in Part - Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2012/04/30 : CIA-RDP83T00296R000100030003-5

	Top Secret	25)
SPECIAL ANALYSIS
NICARAGUA: Sandinistas Under Pressu	ıre
		25X
The Sandinistas-believing their rule tional pressures, counterrevolutionary acting economic conditions-are taking a bellieign critics and bearing down on domestic come concessions, but they are unlikely to to cease permanently their assistance to Sa	ivities, and deteriorat- igerent tone toward for- opponents. They may make loosen their control or	25
Managua sees US assistance to talong with a possible suspension of as the first stage of a campaign to in Central America. The Sandinistas former Nicaraguan National Guardsmer raids out of Honduras have the suppose Government, and they fear that they an invasion by Honduran, Guatemalan backed by Washington.	the Salvadoran junta, US aid to Nicaragua, check leftist forces are convinced that a staging hit-and-run ort of the Honduran eventually will face	25.
The Sandinistas believe the chademocratic groups at home also is pure Independent political parties, the mand the business community have call task for its restrictions on personathe country's growing economic woes.	romoted by the US. newspaper La Prensa , led the government to al freedoms and for	25.
Nicaragua's balance-of-payments $65 million last year, leaving insurpay for a month's imports. Private ally nil, and foreign banks are awas the foreign debt before extending neagricultural production will be diffusion shortage of harvest labor, low invest government mismanagement.	fficient reserves to investment is virtu-iting rescheduling of ew loans. Increasing ficult because of a	25X
Managua has responded to these mixture of conciliation, bravado, as maintain access to foreign financial	nd repression. To continued
	Top Secret	2-
		25

8

2 March 1981

Dealersiës die Deut (O '4'l O · · A · · -	-l f D - l 0040/04/00	. ALA DEDOGERACACEDAGA 40000000	^ -
DACISECITION IN PORT - 1	Sanitized i onv Annrove	0 tor Raidasa 7111 7/11/1/311		۲- ۲
 		d 101 1\elease 20 12/04/30	: CIA-RDP83T00296R000100030003	J-J

	Top Secret
Sandinistas recently have tried to reassure ernments and investors. For example, the last month to persuade a US-owned banana cease operations in Nicaragua, and promisment of compensation claims by US compani	y moved quickly company not to ed rapid settle-
On the other hand, the regime's resp threats and perceived dangers from abroad strong doses of belligerence and militari ment officials have intimated that any fu sure will lead to greater Sandinista radi a crackdown on the domestic opposition. Sandinistas announced the creation of mil centers with the goal of a 200,000-member fold increase over previous projections.	has included zation. Govern-rther US pres-calization and Last month, the itia training
The regime also has struck back at W criticizing Sandinista aid to Salvadoran and has labeled Washington's suspension o wheat sales as "blackmail." Sandinista s indicated that a cutoff in US aid would b nomic aggression, noting that Nicaragua w to repay its foreign debt if Western fina were terminated.	revolutionaries f concessionary pokesmen have e viewed as eco- ould be unable
Relations With the Opposition
The Sandinistas continue to pursue a in dealings with their opponents. By app patriotism and self-interest of business groups, they try to promote economic reco	ealing to the and democratic

The other prong of the Sandinista strategy is manipulative and coercive. Last month, for example, security forces temporarily seized the offices of the independent human rights commission, and the government is now prosecuting its leader—a strong critic of the Sandinistas' human rights record—for violating a vague national security law. The Sandinistas also arrested

9

--continued

Top Secret

2 March 1981

25X1

25X1

25X1

25X1

25X1

25X1 25X1

Top Secret	25X1
three leaders of an Indian organizationwhich recently staged strikes and demonstrationsand charged them with counterrevolutionary activities.	25X1
In continuing their effort to weaken the major private-sector organization, the Sandinistas recently usurped control of one of their constituent groups. Independent groups that boycotted the Sandinista-dominate Council of State last year were told they will lose their seats if they do not return when the Council reconvenes. In any case, the opponents' influence in the Council probably will be diluted further by the inclusion of additional pro-Sandinista organizations.
Outlook
To ease international pressures, the Sandinistas may be willing to cease temporarily their support for Salvadoran revolutionaries, particularly if the guerrillas can win participation in the government through negotiations. The Sandinistas, however, remain committed to the insurgency—not only out of ideological affinity but also out of a belief that their survival depends on a leftist victory in El Salvador. Managua probably will thus try to redirect its support activities—such as shifting them to Costa Rica—or resume them once international interest has subsided.	a 25X1
At home, the Sandinistas would prefer to keep their mix of concessions and crackdowns, which has served them well over the past 19 months. They slowly have consolidated their power without galvanizing the opposition into a united front, driving out the professional classes, or jeopardizing foreign aid.	o 25X1
Independent groups and La Prensa probably will be toleratedwithin limitsover the near term. Nevertheless, the Sandinistas will continue to move toward the establishment of an authoritarian, one-party state by chipping away at the influence of independent groups. If the combination of external and internal pressures becomes too great, they may turn to outright suppression to protect their grip on Nicaragua.	25X1

Top Secret

2 March 1981

Declassified in Part - Sa	anitized Copy Ar	pproved for Release	2012/04/30 : CIA-H	RDP83T00296R000100030003-5 25)
					P
					ģ: ,
					•
				en e atikan Terebugai Kanada sebagai tahun
					· ·
					v _e
	•
			•
	•.
					Ó
					1
					1
					୕ୄୄୄ
					•
					4
					. 1
Top Secret					